Bradley Dugan is a senior attorney in the Orange County office of Theodora Oringher. Bradley's practice focuses on business and commercial litigation, and he has successfully defended and prosecuted lawsuits in both state and federal court. Bradley represents companies ranging from large financial institutions, franchisors, food and beverage manufacturers, real estate developers, hospitals and sports governing bodies. Mr. Dugan handles all stages of a lawsuit, from filing a complaint to successfully briefing and arguing appeals before state and federal appellate courts. In this capacity, Bradley has briefed and won numerous dispositive motions at the trial court level, defeated class certification and has obtained favorable results on appeal.

Bradley earned a J.D., magna cum laude, from Loyola Law School, where he was executive editor of the Loyola of Los Angeles Entertainment Law Review. He received a B.A. in political economy of industrial societies from the University of California, Berkeley.

Prior to joining Theodora Oringher, Bradley was an associate at Sidley Austin LLP.
