

Theodora Oringher's Appellate Practice Group is known for providing forceful written and oral advocacy in both the state and federal court systems on a wide range of subject matters. Theodora Oringher appellate counsel have been responsible for over two dozen significant California precedents in the past decade, and have participated in matters before the United States and California Supreme Courts, the California Courts of Appeal, the Ninth Circuit and Circuit Courts of Appeal in other jurisdictions. Our appellate lawyers also regularly become involved in trial proceedings, briefing and arguing legal motions, including motions for summary judgment, motions in limine, demurrers, class certification motions, directed verdict motions, post trial motions, and the like. Whatever the subject matter, issue, or venue, the Theodora Oringher appellate group is well versed in providing the creative solutions and forceful advocacy needed to meet our clients' goals.
