

The Theodora Oringer Real Estate Litigation Practice Group is well known for providing the best in class litigation and trial services to prominent businesses and individuals in the real estate sector. We have represented individuals, partnerships, corporations, and other entities in virtually every type of real estate dispute. This broad range of experience in both private and public projects, includes representing real estate clients as both plaintiffs and defendants in state and federal courts, as well as in alternative dispute resolution arenas.

Our experience includes:

- › Issues, strategic planning and disputes arising out of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) global health crisis
- › Breach of Lease, Lease Interpretation, and Lease Amendment
- › Development
- › Environmental and Pollution
- › Government, Regulatory, and Zoning
- › Buy/Sell and Foreclosure
- › Unlawful Detainer
- › Title, Easements and Encroachment
- › Mechanics' Liens
- › Nuisance, Inverse Condemnation, and Eminent Domain
- › Premises Liability
- › Discrimination
- › Warranties and Covenants
- › Construction
- › Ownership and Management
